(Wage and Salary Earners in Employment)

Issued for General Information

JUNE, 1943.

1. AUSTRALIA: (i) Total Males and Females Employed.

The estimated total employment of wage and salary earners (excluding members of defence forces, rural workers, and female domestic workers in private homes) was 1,887,900 as at the end of June, 1943, comprising 1,282,700 males and 605,200 females. Males were again practically unchanged during June, while females showed a slight increase over the previous month. The corresponding figures a year earlier, June 1942, were 1,897,600 persons - 1,329,600 males and 568,000 females.

The estimated numbers of wage and salary earners in employment at the end of each month since July, 1941, are shown in the following table:-

Total employment (excluding rural and household domestic) reached its maximum of 1,933,600 in November 1941, just before the entry of Japan into the war. Large numbers of men were then called up for military service, and during the next two months, total employment decreased by about 24,000. During the ten months ended September 1942, the total declined by 55,200 (5,520 per month) but over the next nine months, total employment has increased by 9,500. This net increase in total employment is due to a slackening in the decrease in male employment and to increased female employment, which has risen 31,900 in the last nine months.

The entry of Japan into the war meant calling large numbers of men into the Forces, so that, although substantial numbers of men were obtained from rural industries and from men who were not previously working as wage earners, employment of men (excluding rural workers) commenced in December 1941, to decline heavily. From the end of November 1941, to the end of June 1943, the decrease in males employed was 113,500, averaging 6,000 per month. The variations in male employment since July, 1941, when this series of estimates was commenced, may be summarised as follows: August and September showed increasing employment, 10,900 more men being employed at the end of September than at the end of July. There followed two months with steady figures; and then two months, December 1941 and January 1942, with exceedingly heavy decreases, amounting to 29,600 over the two months. Regular decreases, averaging 6,700 per month continued until December 1942, but during the next six months males declined by only 10,000 and this decrease was partly due to seasonal influences.

The increase in the number of females in employment has partly made up for the loss of men. During the four months, July to November 1941, their increase averaged 5,500 per month, and during the next five months to April 1942, 5,900 per month. There was little movement in the figures for May and June 1942. During the next twelve months, however, female employment increased by 37,200, averaging 3,100 per month.

Notes (a) Includes Government establishments, annexes, and certain private firms engaged on aircraft and shipbuilding but excludes most private factories engaged on war contracts.

(b) Includes such public employment as does not come within the groups shown separately, e.g. administrative services, post office, school teachers, police, public works, tramways, local government, etc., Allied Works Council and employees of Allied Governments.

(c) Includes females engaged in mining and quarrying, and shipping and stevedoring, in addition to those engaged in all other industries not shown separately for males.

(d) Minus sign signifies decrease.

/Total

Total employment in May, 1943, was 2.4 per cent. less than in November 1941. Amongst the industrial groups, however, munitions, aircraft and shipbuilding were 83.8 per cent. above the November 1941 level - the increase in numbers of employees being 59,400 since November 1941. Rail and air transport in June 1943, had 6,000 more employees than in November, 1941, and government n.e.i. employed 45,800 more than in November 1941, due chiefly to employment by the Allied Works Council and Allied Governments. All other industrial groups employed fewer workers in June 1943, than in November 1941, with the exception of shipping and stevedoring which was unchanged. Retail trade employees declined further in June and, at present, employment in this industry is 20% below the November 1941 level.

Males: Changes in the various industrial groups which have been taking place since November 1941, may be described as follows:- Increases, munitions, aircraft and shipbuilding, rail and air transport; Practically unchanged, shipping and stevedoring, government n.e.i.; Decreases, banks and insurance, retail trade, "all other" industries, other commerce and finance, mining and quarrying, other factories and workshops. Government n.e.i. shows higher figures than in November 1941, but this is chiefly due to employment of men by the Allied Works Council and Allied Governments. In June there were some marked deviations from these trends. Munitions, aircraft, etc. continued to decline from the peak reached in April last, and shipping and stevedoring showed a slight increase compared with the previous month.

Females: Since November 1941, the greatest increases in the numbers of females employed have been in munitions, aircraft and shipbuilding, rail and air transport, banks and insurance, and government n.e.i. Slight decreases, however, were recorded in June for all these industries, excepting government n.e.i. which continued to increase. Females employed in other factories and workshops had changed only slightly from November 1941, and seasonal influences accounted mainly for a slight increase in June. Retail trade continued to decline during the month, and in June 1943 there were 7,900 fewer females employed in this industry compared with November 1941.

Masculinity of Employees: The tendency to replace males with females is illustrated by the following figures for masculinity of employees (males per 100 females) in July 1941, November 1941, and June 1943, respectively:- Munitions, aircraft and shipbuilding, 591, 533, 231; other factories, 271, 265, 243; retail trade, 121, 115, 88; banks and insurance, 257, 219, 116; other commerce and finance, 282, 273, 212; government n.e.i., 372, 352, 248; all other industries, 181, 172, 129.

2. STATES: The table on page 4 gives a comparison of estimated employment by States, similar to that given in the preceding table for industrial groups.

In all States except Queensland, an increase of employment between July 1941, and November 1941, has been followed by a decrease between November 1941 and June 1943. Total employment in Queensland was higher than the November 1941 level.

Compared with the previous month, total employment in June 1943 for all States together increased slightly. Small increases were recorded in New South Wales, Queensland and Western Australia, while other states showed small decreases. Male employment showed little change during the month, but females showed slight increases in New South Wales, Queensland, Western Australia and Tasmania, declined slightly in South Australia and showed no change in Victoria.

Male employees in June 1943 were 1,200 less compared with the previous month. The largest net decrease in June was recorded in munitions, aircraft and shipbuilding, and this decline occurred in Victoria, Queensland, South Australia and Tasmania. Smaller decreases were recorded in retail trade, banks and insurance, and other commerce and finance. Most of these industry totals declined in all States, although the decreases were only small.

Female employees showed a slight increase during the month. The only important increase was recorded in government n.e.i., increases being shown in all States except South Australia. Munitions, aircraft, etc., declined slightly in all States except New South Wales and Western Australia, where small increases occurred. Otherwise, industry totals were little changed from the previous month.

(a) Minus sign denotes decrease.

The foregoing estimates relate to total employment and are based on statistical data obtained from various sources including Pay-Roll Tax returns, and direct returns of Commonwealth Government employment.

3. PAY-ROLL TAX:

The collected figures for Pay-Roll returns are given without any adjustment in the appendixes which are attached to this summary. The totals given are those for all employers who send regular returns to the Taxation Departments. For the small proportion of returns which are outstanding at the closing date of each month, the figures of the previous month have been brought forward. The returns do not cover all employment, as employees of the Commonwealth Government are excluded, and employers who pay not more than £20 per week in salaries or wages do not make returns. Certain other classes of employers, principally religious or public benevolent institutions and public hospitals are also exempt. The proportion of all employees who are included varies from State to State on account of the different nature of the industries in the various States; but in general the proportion of employees, (other than those of the Commonwealth, and those engaged in rural industries, and female domestics in private households), who are included in the Pay-Roll Tax returns is about 90 per cent. of the estimated total of males in employment, and about 80 per cent. of the females.

Employers were classified for "industry" according to the industry in which they were considered to be predominantly engaged. As some large employers engage in more than one industry, a considerable number of employees have been included in classes to which they do not strictly belong. The following tables may be taken as indicators of trend from month to month, but not as a guide to the absolute numbers employed in the respective industries.
